

E2K International Riddle
March 2005

By Dr. J. Assouline, The University of Iowa
Department of Biomedical Engineering

What is stronger than steel, yet it can stretch to 140% of its length?

At the same time, it's inelastic -- it absorbs the energy used to stretch it and doesn't bounce back...

